

EVELYN THAW BELIEVES HER LIFE IS AGAIN IN DANGER

"THAW DOESN'T LOVE ME; HE'S FIGHTING FOR LIBERTY TO KILL ME," SAYS EVELYN

Wife of White's Slayer, More Frightened Than Ever, Declares Husband Is Pursuing Cunning Plan to Get Vengeance—Fears He'll Be Allowed to Return Here.

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is more frightened than ever, she says, at the apparently improved prospect that Harry Thaw will be released in the United States and make his way back to the United States. At the Hotel Broome, this morning she spoke her agitation in a trembling voice. She had had a strenuous night and had read the morning papers before going to bed.

"This last news from Harry is simply frightful," she said to an Evening World reporter. "It is the worst yet. What shall I do if that man gets back to New York? The situation is getting more serious every minute for me."

"Of course, I don't take any stock in those professions of affection for me. If he loved me, why did he and his family do their best to drive me into the gutter, after throwing me out before as they thought, on the world?"

This latest is just a part of Harry's insane cunning. He has a crazy idea of influencing the public mind and getting the sympathy of people, and all the while he has it in mind to get at me again and do me injury.

HIS CONTROLLING IMPULSE IS EGOTISM.

"It is just as I said in my first interview with The Evening World. He betrayed himself and was arrested by his inimitable egotism. That is the controlling impulse with Harry always—egotism. As soon as he heard I had gone on the stage again and was able to care for myself he had an access of frenzy. He thought he had put me in the gutter and that I couldn't get out without his aid. Now he wants to get free in order that he may take his vengeance—kill me. I am more frightened than ever."

"If he should get free and return to New York," the reporter asked, "would you leave the city and hide somewhere?"

"No, I consider that I am better protected here than I would be anywhere else and in New York I'll stay. But I understand the workings of his crazy mind so well, I feel confident that if he gets out there will be trouble for other folks. Jerome and Dr. Pint had better look out or he'll get them."

SHAME THAT THAW MONEY IS ALLOWED TO CORRUPT.

"Aside from considerations of my safety, it is a shame and a scandal in this state that the Thaw money has been able to corrupt officials and buy a sort of immunity for Harry."

"I say once more I know the man so well that I was able to predict exactly what would happen when he escaped from Matteawan. I foresee precisely what will take place now if the law relaxes its grip on this crazy man."

Thaw's Three Canadian Counsellors, Jail and Its Governor, Justice Who Will Hear His Case

(Copyright American Press Association.)

JUSTICE GLOBENSKY

AMERICAN PRESS ASSN.

the States. It is in the town of Canaan, Vt.

This is believed by State officials to be the basis for the report from Sherbrooke, Canada, that Thaw was likely to be turned over to the authorities of this State.

From Beecher Falls Thaw drove by team and he probably did not again enter New Hampshire, though he might easily have done so by taking a round-about route. It is expected that this point will be definitely determined and the Canadian authorities informed accordingly.

Gov. Allen M. Fletcher said today that he did not wish to make an official statement as to the attitude of Vermont should Thaw be returned here as an undesirable emigrant to Canada.

Attorney-General Rufus E. Brown declared that he considered Thaw an undesirable and dangerous person, and that if he had the authority to do so he would surrender the fugitive to the police of New York State. He added:

"However, should Thaw be in Vermont and the State of New York seek to have him surrendered simply on the ground that he has escaped from an insane asylum, it probably would be an altogether different matter."

"I feel as they do in New Hampshire, that Vermont does not want Thaw within its limits."

Representative of District Attorney Conger of Dutchess County called at the office of Edward R. Carroll, Clerk of the Court Special Sessions, today, and obtained a copy of Thaw's commitment to Matteawan and also a copy of the decision rendered by Justice Victor J. Dowling in June, 1898, denying the petition for a transfer from Matteawan to Middletown Asylum.

Copies of the commitment and decision were forwarded to Sherbrooke, Quebec, to be used by the State authorities if the question of Thaw's sanity is taken up.

IMMIGRATION MEN ROUND UP WITNESSES IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

COLLEBROOK, N. H., Aug. 21.—Canadian immigration officials were here today, rounding up witnesses for proceedings to be instituted at Sherbrooke, Que., against Harry K. Thaw as an undesirable alien.

Deputy Sheriff H. H. Kelsey, who followed the fugitive across the border and brought about his arrest was asked to be in Sherbrooke at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Kelsey left for Canada this afternoon and expects to tell of the route taken by Thaw after he left the Maine Central Railway train at Beecher Falls, Vt.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

THAW SIGHS FOR "LOST" WIFE; HINTS AT RECONCILIATION

Fled From Matteawan Because "Dearest Girl In All the World" Had "Gone Back to the Old Life," He Tells The Evening World.

(From a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)

SHERBROOKE, Canada, Aug. 21.—Furious and worried, Thaw dressed before sunrise today and received Mr. and Mrs. Carnegie as his first visitors.

Though apparently cheered by their arrival, their presence seemed to make him more close-mouthed than ever regarding his escape.

That he fled from Matteawan because his wife had gone back on the stage and that his heart was breaking because he felt he had "lost the love of the woman for whom I was prepared to do anything—and that is Evelyn," was the extraordinary statement made in an interview by Thaw.

His voice trembled as he mentioned the name of his wife, deplored her return to the stage and called her "the dearest girl in all the world."

"Will you be reconciled to her?" was asked.

"I don't care to speak about that," Thaw replied.

He was standing in the hospital room in the prison facing The Evening World reporter. His manner, while agitated and emotional, was not that of a deranged man, but rather one under great stress. He stretched out his hands.

"I have lost all that is dear to me in this world," he said. "I feel that I have lost the love of the woman for whom I was prepared to do anything, and that is Evelyn."

WHY HE FLED FROM MATTEAWAN.

"Evelyn has left me. She has gone back to her old life on the stage. I have heard her name in the electric letters on Broadway. My heart suffers a pang which no one but me can feel."

"And is that why you fled from Matteawan?"

"What I have said answers that question. Because I have lost the dearest girl in the world."

"I am being held in this jail because the officials of Matteawan want me to go back there and spend my days in confinement."

"I have been legally acquitted of any crime, and I have certainly shown by my actions that I am not an insane man."

"I am being persecuted by a certain caste of people who want me kept in prison somewhere."

"In escaping from Matteawan I think I was perfectly justified in what I did, and I am consoled by the fact that my mother, sisters and brother wish me every happiness."

CAN'T DISCUSS HIS FUTURE PLANS.

"I cannot discuss my immediate plans or even the ideas that I will follow if I get out of this tangle. My lawyers will take up the matter of my release as quickly as they can."

"It seems funny," Thaw pointed through the window, "to see such a crowd of men and women outside the

A Lot of Lots

If you own something that is in great demand you have an asset of substantial value.

It is the demand for a thing that determines its value.

Even fortunes have been made out of single building lots when they have been purchased with their future demand in view.

In and around New York there are thousands of lots that will shortly be needed by one person or another, and which will command a price far in advance of their present cost.

Find some of those lots and buy them!

World "Real Estate" Ads.

Show the Bargains!

VERMONT MAKES CLAIM THAT THAW ENTERED CANADA FROM THERE.

CAVENDISH, Vt., Aug. 21.—It appears today that Harry K. Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and not directly from New Hampshire, as had been supposed. The village of Beecher Falls, where he left the train, is on the Vermont side of the boundary line between the States. It is in the town of Canaan, Vt.

This is believed by State officials to be the basis for the report from Sherbrooke, Canada, that Thaw was likely to be turned over to the authorities of this State.

From Beecher Falls Thaw drove by team and he probably did not again enter New Hampshire, though he might easily have done so by taking a round-about route. It is expected that this point will be definitely determined and the Canadian authorities informed accordingly.

Gov. Allen M. Fletcher said today that he did not wish to make an official statement as to the attitude of Vermont should Thaw be returned here as an undesirable emigrant to Canada.

Attorney-General Rufus E. Brown declared that he considered Thaw an undesirable and dangerous person, and that if he had the authority to do so he would surrender the fugitive to the police of New York State. He added:

"However, should Thaw be in Vermont and the State of New York seek to have him surrendered simply on the ground that he has escaped from an insane asylum, it probably would be an altogether different matter."

"I feel as they do in New Hampshire, that Vermont does not want Thaw within its limits."

Representative of District Attorney Conger of Dutchess County called at the office of Edward R. Carroll, Clerk of the Court Special Sessions, today, and obtained a copy of Thaw's commitment to Matteawan and also a copy of the decision rendered by Justice Victor J. Dowling in June, 1898, denying the petition for a transfer from Matteawan to Middletown Asylum.

Copies of the commitment and decision were forwarded to Sherbrooke, Quebec, to be used by the State authorities if the question of Thaw's sanity is taken up.

IMMIGRATION MEN ROUND UP WITNESSES IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

COLLEBROOK, N. H., Aug. 21.—Canadian immigration officials were here today, rounding up witnesses for proceedings to be instituted at Sherbrooke, Que., against Harry K. Thaw as an undesirable alien.

Deputy Sheriff H. H. Kelsey, who followed the fugitive across the border and brought about his arrest was asked to be in Sherbrooke at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Kelsey left for Canada this afternoon and expects to tell of the route taken by Thaw after he left the Maine Central Railway train at Beecher Falls, Vt.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

the States. It is in the town of Canaan, Vt.

This is believed by State officials to be the basis for the report from Sherbrooke, Canada, that Thaw was likely to be turned over to the authorities of this State.

From Beecher Falls Thaw drove by team and he probably did not again enter New Hampshire, though he might easily have done so by taking a round-about route. It is expected that this point will be definitely determined and the Canadian authorities informed accordingly.

Gov. Allen M. Fletcher said today that he did not wish to make an official statement as to the attitude of Vermont should Thaw be returned here as an undesirable emigrant to Canada.

Attorney-General Rufus E. Brown declared that he considered Thaw an undesirable and dangerous person, and that if he had the authority to do so he would surrender the fugitive to the police of New York State. He added:

"However, should Thaw be in Vermont and the State of New York seek to have him surrendered simply on the ground that he has escaped from an insane asylum, it probably would be an altogether different matter."

"I feel as they do in New Hampshire, that Vermont does not want Thaw within its limits."

Representative of District Attorney Conger of Dutchess County called at the office of Edward R. Carroll, Clerk of the Court Special Sessions, today, and obtained a copy of Thaw's commitment to Matteawan and also a copy of the decision rendered by Justice Victor J. Dowling in June, 1898, denying the petition for a transfer from Matteawan to Middletown Asylum.

Copies of the commitment and decision were forwarded to Sherbrooke, Quebec, to be used by the State authorities if the question of Thaw's sanity is taken up.

IMMIGRATION MEN ROUND UP WITNESSES IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

COLLEBROOK, N. H., Aug. 21.—Canadian immigration officials were here today, rounding up witnesses for proceedings to be instituted at Sherbrooke, Que., against Harry K. Thaw as an undesirable alien.

Deputy Sheriff H. H. Kelsey, who followed the fugitive across the border and brought about his arrest was asked to be in Sherbrooke at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Kelsey left for Canada this afternoon and expects to tell of the route taken by Thaw after he left the Maine Central Railway train at Beecher Falls, Vt.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

the States. It is in the town of Canaan, Vt.

This is believed by State officials to be the basis for the report from Sherbrooke, Canada, that Thaw was likely to be turned over to the authorities of this State.

From Beecher Falls Thaw drove by team and he probably did not again enter New Hampshire, though he might easily have done so by taking a round-about route. It is expected that this point will be definitely determined and the Canadian authorities informed accordingly.

Gov. Allen M. Fletcher said today that he did not wish to make an official statement as to the attitude of Vermont should Thaw be returned here as an undesirable emigrant to Canada.

Attorney-General Rufus E. Brown declared that he considered Thaw an undesirable and dangerous person, and that if he had the authority to do so he would surrender the fugitive to the police of New York State. He added:

"However, should Thaw be in Vermont and the State of New York seek to have him surrendered simply on the ground that he has escaped from an insane asylum, it probably would be an altogether different matter."

"I feel as they do in New Hampshire, that Vermont does not want Thaw within its limits."

Representative of District Attorney Conger of Dutchess County called at the office of Edward R. Carroll, Clerk of the Court Special Sessions, today, and obtained a copy of Thaw's commitment to Matteawan and also a copy of the decision rendered by Justice Victor J. Dowling in June, 1898, denying the petition for a transfer from Matteawan to Middletown Asylum.

Copies of the commitment and decision were forwarded to Sherbrooke, Quebec, to be used by the State authorities if the question of Thaw's sanity is taken up.

IMMIGRATION MEN ROUND UP WITNESSES IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

COLLEBROOK, N. H., Aug. 21.—Canadian immigration officials were here today, rounding up witnesses for proceedings to be instituted at Sherbrooke, Que., against Harry K. Thaw as an undesirable alien.

Deputy Sheriff H. H. Kelsey, who followed the fugitive across the border and brought about his arrest was asked to be in Sherbrooke at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Kelsey left for Canada this afternoon and expects to tell of the route taken by Thaw after he left the Maine Central Railway train at Beecher Falls, Vt.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

Others requested to appear at the hearing at Sherbrooke include the livery man who drove Thaw and his commitment.

Kelsey said today that Thaw entered Canada from Vermont and took a round about route, with the idea of reaching Sherbrooke, Canada, and so covered about three miles before crossing the line, but he did not at any time enter New Hampshire.

GLYNN INVOKES AID OF U. S. GOVERNMENT TO GET THAW

(Continued From First Page.)

authorities at Ottawa this afternoon that they would use every effort in their power to assist in having Harry K. Thaw returned to New York State.

If Thaw is set free at Sherbrooke the immigration act will be applied after the usual formalities. No assurance is given by the Immigration Department that he will be surrendered to the New York officers. On the contrary, it is understood that if Thaw is returned to the United States by the immigration authorities it will not be by way of New York.

A new point developed today is that Thaw would not be "deported," but "rejected." Between the terms there is an important distinction.

"Deportation," it is pointed out, can only take place after an immigrant has passed the immigration inspectors and is domiciled in Canada. Legal cause for deportation would have to be shown. This Thaw did not do, but it is understood, entered the country by stealth, evading the inspectors.

If taken in charge as an immigrant he would be formally examined as to whence he came and how he entered the country, and the procedure would be to "reject him as undesirable," just as he would have been had he applied for admission in the first place.

Thaw Gets Week's Delay, Offers to Deport Himself

(Special From a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)

SHERBROOKE, Que., Aug. 21.—Over the violent protests of the representatives here of the United States, Superior Court Judge Globensky this afternoon allowed the lawyers for Harry K. Thaw to serve their writ of habeas corpus, calling for the immediate production of Thaw in court and then granted a stay until next Wednesday when the writ will be argued.

It is a great victory for Thaw, for he is safe from deportation as long as he remains in jail here. He was not produced in court, to the intense disappointment of several hundred men and women who had crowded the place for a glimpse of him.

The fight of Deputy Attorney General Franklin Kennedy of New York, and District Attorney E. C. Conger of Dutchess County, to get